

What to bring to auditions:

A list of date conflicts between the audition date and the final performance.

A completed bio (form attached.)

Be prepared to read scenes from the script.

All Roles are open and no one will be pre-cast.

As the play takes place in New York, it is preferred that all female characters have a New York dialect. Both males will have a Spanish (Castilian) dialect.

Odd Couple (Female Version) Cast of Characters

Olive Madison (Lead): Female, 18+

A successful television producer; she is intelligent, attractive, and wisecracking, with a good sense of humor, and she's a complete slob; she has an encyclopedic understanding of sports.

Florence (Flo) Unger (Lead): Female, 18+

Attractive, very well-groomed, and neat; has just broken up with her husband; she takes herself very seriously, likes to clean, decorate, and cook; she is intelligent and warm-hearted, but has no sense of humor (at least about herself).

Sylvie (Supporting): Female, 18+

Desperately trying to stop smoking, and so sucks on lollipops or chews gum; she can get irritated with her friends, but has a good sense of humor, especially about her husband; and, yes, she is pregnant in the last scene.

Renee (Supporting): Female, 18+

Sylvie's best friend, can be very plain-spoken, especially when she points out Olive's failings as a hostess--and then Flo's; she is single and dating a doctor.

Vera (Supporting): Female, 18+

Very sweet, very nice, somewhat spacey, and, although quite smart, is often a step or two behind her friends; she's very funny, but doesn't realize it.

Mickey (Supporting): Female, 18+

A police officer, who is down-to-earth, plain-talking, and has a good understanding of people; she tries very hard to be in control of all situations.

Manolo Costazuela (Supporting): Male, 18+

Handsome, very well-groomed, and Spanish with a Castilian accent; he is every woman's dream date and showers both Olive and Flo with attention; he must have good comic timing, as he gets very emotional; he is sensitive and appreciates Florence's sensitivity.

Jesus Costazuela (Supporting): Male, 18+

Manolo's younger brother; also very handsome and Spanish with a Castilian accent; well-groomed, excellent posture, very romantic; he also gets very emotional and truly appreciates Florence.
